THE BROOKLYN SUPERBAS MAY TRAIN IN DAYTONA.

Delightful Daytona Wins Squad

Hundreds of Enthusiastic Fans Pack Stand, Bleachers and Crowd Foul Lines.

The story by Abe Yeager, Leonard Wooster, A. Currier and Alex Schwalbach. The famous aggregation of professional players from Brooklyn came to Daytona yesterday as promised, and they were the finest exhibition of ball playing seen in the South this winter. Exhibition games as a rule are somewhat tame, but the two Brooklyn teams were full of life, snap and vigor, and if they were on the gall shown here yesterday they would have won the championship flag. The train they came on was 40 minutes late, so the visitors did not reach Daytona until 12:30. A dozen automobiles, kindly loaned for the occasion, were in waiting for them at the depot, and after a short ride about the town the entire party of thirty-five had dinner at the Hotel Despland, their headquarters while here, and, after donning uniforms, the autos took them direct to the grounds. After the game was over they went to the beach to see the sun, and, after having a good time generally, they left this morning on the train for Jacksonville, where they are scheduled to play this afternoon.

The ball grounds were in fairly good shape, while the weather was superb for such ball playing. The little grandstand was filled to overflowing, the bleachers were packed, and a great string of spectators sat down in front of both ends and were massed up solidly way back to the fence back of third base, beyond which a great many automobiles were parked, and a great many spectators were in the field. Outside the grounds presented a very picturesque appearance. Cedar avenue before the game commenced was jammed with pedestrians, wheelmen, surreys, motor cars, etc., and a large space had been cleared in front of the grounds to park the vehicles. Hundreds of people were turned away who could not get seating accommodations, hence Manager Morgan is to be congratulated upon his public spirited, sporting instinct that led him to propose the game, and the syndicate of capitalists that underwrote the affair did not seem to put up a cent because the game was a paying one, notwithstanding the enormous expense of bringing the big Brooklyn team here, feeding and housing them, local transportation charges, and the expense for the use and arrangement of the grounds, the team, however, playing for the fun and novelty of the trip to delightful Daytona.

Mayor Greene represented the city, and graciously tendered the freedom of it to the visiting ball players, many of whom had with them their wives and children. The best people in town attended the game, and at a reception and banquet tendered to the ball players and visiting war correspondents at the Cafe Midway last night the hope was unanimously expressed that next winter the Brooklynites would make Daytona their training headquarters.

Among the visiting party beside the players was Treasurer Medicus of the Brooklyn base ball club, accompanied by his wife. Secretary Charles Ebbets, Jr., the son of President Ebbets of the Club. Young Mr. Ebbets had his wife and children with him. Among the war correspondents was the little Napoleon, Abe Yeager, the great sporting editor of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, accompanied by wife and family, and Leonard Wooster of the Brooklyn Daily Times and A. Currier of the New York Press.

The game was played as a compliment to "Senator" Morgan and Alex Schwalbach, both of whom are exceedingly popular with the Brooklyn sporting public, and especially the base ball fans. It was a hard-fought battle, and was not decided until the ninth inning when Humpty McElveen brought the Day's Daytona Colts home to victory by a score of 6 to 5. It was remarkable, the snap and ginger that the two teams put in the game, and the several hundred spectators were kept on edge of enthusiasm from start to finish. Little Tommy McMillan, who is well known to Florida fans through having played with Jacksonville up to last year, started the game in professional style with a wallop over the left field fence for a home run. The ball went squarely over the sign of the Gruber-Morris Hardware Co., and the wee player who is the smallest exponent of the national game in the big league, won the five dollar bill offered by that concern for such a hit. The Daytona squad quickly tied the score in the second inning when Catterson lead off with a double to center, moved down to third on a sacrifice by Kustus, and came home under the bit on Hunter's single. It was not until the fifth that another tally was recorded, and then Marshall sent the Colts forward with a drive over the left field fence for a homer. The hit was almost a duplicate of that made by McMillan, but luckily for Mr. Morris the ball dropped several feet beyond the $5 mark. Mr. Morris said later, however, that he would have been willing to pay the price five times over just for the sport's sake. Both pitchers continued in fine fettle until the seventh, when the regulars developed a fine batting rally and forged to the front. Lumley opened up with a single, but was forced by the mighty Jordan, champion home-run biter of the national league. Lennox made the second out with a long fly to the left, but Dunn, who had relieved Bergen behind the bat, loosed out a long double to the left field fence. Wilhelm was the right man in the right place, his timely single bringing in the two runs that sent the Brooklyn to the front.

The Colts went to the front in their half of the 8th, when successive singles by Hummel, McElveen and Catterson, followed by a sacrifice fly from Hunter scored two runs. The regulars came back with the tying run in the last half, Whitney Alperman crossing the plate on his double and Sebring's single. The 9th was exciting. The Brooklyn took a lead of one run and it was up to the Daytona's to make an electrical finish. They were there with the goods. With two hands down, Burch made his third double of the contest, and Hummel was safe on a fumble by Alperman. McElveen came to the rescue with a hurican swat into the tall grass in deep center, and before the ball could be relayed to the plate, both runners had dented the pan and the game was over. Score:

PULLED FOR SPEEDING.

Yesterday noon Richard Irvin, chauffeur for a gentleman stopping at The Ridgewood, seemed to be trying for a speed record on Beach street instead of on the fastest beach in all the world. Marshal John Myers fell on him with the municipal big stick and called him before his Honor, Mayor Greene. The owner of the car responded, and when Mayor Greene explained fully the attitude of the city toward such driving and the necessity for safeguarding pedestrians, and much more to this effect, the gentleman concluded the mayor was eminently correct, and hereafter Chauffeur Irvin will do his speeding outside the city limits or on the beach.

At Wilman's Opera House.

Those who have not as yet attended Wilman's opera house should go tonight, and enjoy a real treat in witnessing the Wills Musical Comedy Company present "The Chorus Girl." The company played at the Wilman's all week to ever-increasing audiences, and the expression is universal that it is by far the best company which ever came before the footlights here.

Every actor in the company is a specialist in his or her line and as jollity and laughter is the main object aimed they deliver the "goods" from start to finish. If then the "News" readers want to enjoy a two hours solid, high class fun do not fail to go to Wilman's tonight as this is your last opportunity.

Tickets at Hankins for this evening and ferry to North Bridge.

WATER WORKS BONDS ARE SIGNED

Construction of New System Will Probably Begin in About Three Weeks.

ATLANTA FIRM TO DO THE WORK

The water works bonds have been received and were signed yesterday. A long string of red tape has been unwound and disposed of, and those in charge of the water works business are nearing the end of the red tape reel. Soon the "thump, thump, thump," of the deep well drill will be heard and the activity of the builders of masonry, and the whack of the hammer and the buzz of the saw will be good music to those who have Daytona property and no adequate fire-fighting apparatus.

Yesterday Mayor Greene, President Gove and City Clerk Porter affixed their signatures to the bonds and their remains little more to do, but to give the command to proceed with the construction of the system.

The bonds were of the $500 and $1,000 denomination; sixty of $500 and twenty of $1,000 bonds. It's a pity all these bonds were not taken by local capitalists.

The Bond Trustees are not prepared to say just what day work will be commenced on the water works, but think it is safe to say in about three weeks, but when it does begin it will be pushed along as speedily as is consistent with good workmanship.

With the exception of concrete work which contract Hough & Bond secured, and the well-drilling contract, secured by Melton & Ballough, an Atlanta firm installs the new system. The firm is J. B. McCarty & Co., big contractors of extensive experience in such work.

Already plans are laid for beginning operations, and it seems now as if it is a matter of a few days only till this much needed system will be under way.

A Daily News representative was permitted to examine the handsomely executed papers, and the bonds are an exquisite work of art.

The last seen of big papers F. D. Spring, Chairman of the Bond Committee, had the whole batch, but as he was headed toward The Merchants Bank no solicitude was expressed for their safety. The Bond Committee has exercised due diligence and no time will be lost in disposing of all the necessary preliminary work.

ELKS AFTER RIFLE BOYS.

The count of Thursday evening in the piano contest showed no new developments. The Daytona High School seems to be holding its own, as does also the Wilman's opera house. In Daytona the Rifles seem to be stopping, while the Elks come along still at a good gait and they will pass the Rifles before the close of the contest next Wednesday, in all probability. The Eastern Stars had a fairly large vote.

Outside of Daytona the Kingston school has again passed the Seabreeze school, having its largest vote so far.

The rest of the vote, both in and outside of Daytona, was fairly large. From now on till the finish the vote will likely be heavy every day, and the voters will be giving a great deal of help if they will write their ballots plainly, simply, on the front and not on the back, and try to avoid being funny. These little jokes are all right but they don't help the person that has to count the votes.

A LONG-RANGE NOMINATION.

Bred and born in "Old Kentucky," deeply interested in her material welfare, solicitous for her moral and educational advancement, my friends back in the good old commonwealth will at least concede that I have sufficient incentive if not justification in "butting in," somewhat prematurely though it may seem, and making a long-range nomination for one of the most important offices in the gift of Kentuckians to bestow.

It is that of Superintendent of Public Instruction, the job temporarily held by Professor Crabbe.

Commercial prosperity while eminently to be desired cannot be paramount to the educational, which premise is so evidently axiomatic, I am led to suggest that to remove the stigma of Kentucky's high percentage of illiteracy, when compared with some other States less worthy the title "God's Country," she seek a place in the vanguard of progress by placing at the head of her educational interests that brilliant thinker, lucid writer, distinguished teacher and citizen, Miss Alice Lloyd, of Mason county.

She would bring to the office such dignity, such ripe scholarship, such fidelity to duty, such Christian character as speedily to lift the department upon a high plane.

Do I hear a second to the nomination of Miss Lloyd for Superintendent of Public Instruction of Kentucky?

ITALIAN FIAT CYCLONE WINS MINNEAPOLIS TROPHY

LYCEUM COURSE A GREAT HIT.

When in the course of human events it comes time to thank a people for doing what they wanted to do, it is such a satisfaction to feel that if the language seems exaggerated it is no more than is due.

The last of the Lyceum Course has come and gone, and all of the lions which stood in our way are slain. The danger of the company not keeping pledge is a question no longer to be considered. The fear that the entertainments would not be first-class, has been driven away by the success of the performers and the testimonies of those present. Even the weather held for the success of the enterprise. But the best of all is the hearty support of the community. If ever the people who have worked for this Lyceum Course want help again to carry on such an undertaking, they know where to find just what is needed—sympathy and support. Four times this season the Baptist church has been filled with Daytona citizens who count life worth living. If the audiences felt that the entertainments this year, in some respects were not all they hoped, they have been generously considerate in criticisms.

Let's thank ourselves for helping bring the Lyceum Course here.
M. E. BROWN,
On behalf of Committee.

Beach Was In Perfect Condition.

Chapple, New York, and Goerke, Brooklyn, Run Twenty Miles Neck and Neck.

(BY ALEX SCHWALBACH.)

The fourth and last day of the Seventh Annual Daytona Beach Tournament was enlivened by the exhibition base ball game by picked teams from the Brooklyn, New York, base ball club, which came on to Daytona thirty-six strong from Jacksonville about noon time.

On the beach the wind was off the ocean blowing directly across the course, which was fast as usual. The Fiat Cyclone driven by Ralph De Palma had a walkover for the Minneapolis Trophy, thus insuring its permanent position by the Fiat Company, and it also had a walkover in the one mile invitation race. De Palma also handily won from scratch with his Italian flyer, the eight mile handicap race, after conceding starts from one minute and twenty seconds to four minutes for the others. The time was 8:45 net—the local Hotchkiss was first, Pope-Hartford was second, and Aultman's Buick, Daytona, was third.

Fred Hill made the best time, 1:19 4-5 for a bicycle paced by a motorcycle, and in the attempt to beat the mile-a-minute Murphy's old record of 57 4-5 seconds, on Long Island behind a locomotive, Elmer L. Collins, of Lynn, Mass., rode a mile on a bicycle in 58 3-5 seconds behind the Fiat Cyclone. It then looked as though the Murphy record was in danger but both Hill and Fogler lost the pace and it was all over. The twenty-mile motorcycle event was won by A. G. Chapple, of New York, who just beat out Walter Goerke, of Brooklyn, N. Y., after neck and neck race of twenty miles, first one man leading and then the other in 17 minutes and 21 seconds.

The closing day also gave the greatest crowd of spectators of any day of the week, the base ball game also had all the grounds could hold so that the get-away day was a success in every point of view.

SEABREEZE, March 26.—Mrs. McArthur and daughter, Miss May, left yesterday for their home in Westerly, R. I. Mr. and Mrs. McArthur have been house keeping in the Hull cottage on Pine-wood avenue for the past two months.

Mrs. Sarah Grandy and son, Louis Grandy, of North Dakota, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Swift have returned home.

Mr. Russell returned from the Keating pier yesterday with a thirty-pound catch of fish. Not even the record-breaking races thundered close at hand could win him from his chosen sport.

Mrs. Stalker, of New York who has spent the winter on Valley street, and whose gift of song has afforded much pleasure to the Methodist congregations this season, expects a summons home any day this week.

L. M. Drake is clearing off two beautiful lots on the South side of Earl street. He has used some discretion in saving the finest of the native growth, and the small knolls and valleys show off to greater advantage therefor. The usual method of stripping a building lot of all forestry and grading it to a "dead level" seems to be a mistake unless it is expected to cover the entire ground with buildings. Some unevenness of surface gives a chance for landscape gardening that otherwise is out of the question.

The Oriental band entertained at the Princess Isena a few evenings since.
